

Christian & Citizen Day is Sunday November 2, 2008

The Gospel and the Scriptures have meaning for the whole of human life. The ministry of the church, while beginning with “the equipping of the saints,” must concern all those ties that link humans together in a society. God sends the church on a mission to be light and salt to all society... Church and government are both called to “serve the Lord.” ...The individual Christian serves God in both the church and the rest of society. Discipleship consists in the awareness that “during one’s whole life one has to do with God” (Calvin). But such discipleship is not only a personal, individual calling. The sovereign Lord works not only in the depths of individual souls but also in the organizations, the institutions, and the movements of human history... (Minutes, 1983, Part I, pp.776 -778)

The Washington Office of the Presbyterian Church (USA) has designated this date as the culmination to our goal of joining election activities and Christian perspectives together, to promote an informed Christian citizenship before our next national and state elections.

Our election-year packet “Christian & Citizen” is available online from the Washington Office.

www.pcusa.org/washington/christiancitizen.htm

Christian & Citizen Day is Sunday November 2, 2008

The Gospel and the Scriptures have meaning for the whole of human life. The ministry of the church, while beginning with “the equipping of the saints,” must concern all those ties that link humans together in a society. God sends the church on a mission to be light and salt to all society... Church and government are both called to “serve the Lord.” ...The individual Christian serves God in both the church and the rest of society. Discipleship consists in the awareness that “during one’s whole life one has to do with God” (Calvin). But such discipleship is not only a personal, individual calling. The sovereign Lord works not only in the depths of individual souls but also in the organizations, the institutions, and the movements of human history... (Minutes, 1983, Part I, pp.776 -778)

The Washington Office of the Presbyterian Church (USA) has designated this date as the culmination to our goal of joining election activities and Christian perspectives together, to promote an informed Christian citizenship before our next national and state elections.

Our election-year packet “Christian & Citizen” is available online from the Washington Office.

www.pcusa.org/washington/christiancitizen.htm

We hope you, your congregation, or your presbytery will use “Christian & Citizen,” to help you wrestle with the issues of this year’s political campaigns. We have tried to identify the major issues of the campaigns and to lay alongside them the guidance as voted by the commissioners at various Presbyterian General Assemblies. These statements are based on a Reformed Theological understanding of the biblical message and a belief that God works through the assembled commissioners of the Church. General Assembly policy statements are seen as advice and counsel to Presbyterians during times of elections.

The online packet contains a variety of materials:

- Personal Reflection and Group Study Guide
- Five-Session Study Guide
- Do’s and Don’ts for Congregations During Election Times
- National and State Level Advocacy
- Holding a Candidate Forum in Your Church
- Guidelines for Presbyterians During Times of Disagreement
- Implementation of Charitable Choice/Faith Based Initiatives
- Non-Partisan Electoral Sites
- Useful Advocacy Websites
- Worship and Selected Resources
- Voter Registration Information
- How to be An Effective Advocate
- Get Involved enrollment information
- Clarifying the Guidelines for Non-Profit Lobbying
- Perhaps You Could Run for Office

We must make our witness together to make it count. This Packet, with resources and programs from the Washington Office, enable Presbyterians to work in a practical way to lift up the vision of a just and compassionate society. This collective effort allows each of us to take a small part in the Church’s ministry for shaping our world.

Politically, what counts most is the knowledge that voters back home care about an issue: You are the key to the public policy ministry of the Presbyterian Church (USA). The “Christian & Citizen” resource provides an easy-to-understand synthesis of these policies, adapted and interpreted with current issues and political struggles in mind.

We hope you, your congregation, or your presbytery will use “Christian & Citizen,” to help you wrestle with the issues of this year’s political campaigns. We have tried to identify the major issues of the campaigns and to lay alongside them the guidance as voted by the commissioners at various Presbyterian General Assemblies. These statements are based on a Reformed Theological understanding of the biblical message and a belief that God works through the assembled commissioners of the Church. General Assembly policy statements are seen as advice and counsel to Presbyterians during times of elections.

The online packet contains a variety of materials:

- Personal Reflection and Group Study Guide
- Five-Session Study Guide
- Do’s and Don’ts for Congregations During Election Times
- National and State Level Advocacy
- Holding a Candidate Forum in Your Church
- Guidelines for Presbyterians During Times of Disagreement
- Implementation of Charitable Choice/Faith Based Initiatives
- Non-Partisan Electoral Sites
- Useful Advocacy Websites
- Worship and Selected Resources
- Voter Registration Information
- How to be An Effective Advocate
- Get Involved enrollment information
- Clarifying the Guidelines for Non-Profit Lobbying
- Perhaps You Could Run for Office

We must make our witness together to make it count. This Packet, with resources and programs from the Washington Office, enable Presbyterians to work in a practical way to lift up the vision of a just and compassionate society. This collective effort allows each of us to take a small part in the Church’s ministry for shaping our world.

Politically, what counts most is the knowledge that voters back home care about an issue: You are the key to the public policy ministry of the Presbyterian Church (USA). The “Christian & Citizen” resource provides an easy-to-understand synthesis of these policies, adapted and interpreted with current issues and political struggles in mind.