Angels in Our Midst

Women in Luanda are encouraged by a vision.

Every November the women in our church come together for one week for Bible study, worship, and praise. Women come to this gathering from all the provinces and localities where the church is growing and serving the Lord and community.

Last November the women met in Luanda as usual. One night while the pastor was preaching, a woman entered the church, head bowed in prayer. After taking a seat she quietly asked the woman beside her, "Who are the two standing on either side of the pastor?" The woman replied, "I do not

Every November the women in our church come together for one week for Bible study, worship, and praise. Women come to this gathering from all the provinces and localities where the church is growing and serving the Lord and community.

Last November the women met in Luanda as usual. One night while the pastor was preaching, a woman entered the church, head bowed in prayer. After taking a seat she quietly asked the woman beside her, "Who are the two standing on either side of the pastor?" The woman replied, "I do not see anybody with the pastor, I am seeing only the pastor." The woman who had entered late would not be dissuaded. She replied that she was still seeing the two people, big and tall, at the front of the church.

At the end of the preaching session, the pastor prayed and left. The two women began to share with others about the one woman's vision of the angels in front of the church. All who were there rejoiced that God had sent such a vision of presence with them. Praise the Lord at all times for abundant mercy, kindness, and love.
