

MINUTE FOR MISSION

October 15, 2006

The Distance Between Us Means Nothing!

Members of the Reformed community in Poland camp with visitors from Presbyterian Place, a campus ministry of the University of Memphis.

Then, Jesus said, "...people will come from east and west, from north and south, and will eat in the kingdom of God." Such gatherings of Christians have taken place in the mountains of southern Poland, at the mission camp of the Evangelical Reformed Church of Poland. Visitors from Presbyterian Place, a campus ministry of the University of Memphis in the Presbytery of the Mid-South, have joined their Reformed brothers and sisters in Poland and created new openings between east and west—new understandings between Christians once divided by the Iron Curtain.

MINUTE FOR MISSION

October 15, 2006

The Distance Between Us Means Nothing!

Members of the Reformed community in Poland camp with visitors from Presbyterian Place, a campus ministry of the University of Memphis.

Then, Jesus said, "...people will come from east and west, from north and south, and will eat in the kingdom of God." Such gatherings of Christians have taken place in the mountains of southern Poland, at the mission camp of the Evangelical Reformed Church of Poland. Visitors from Presbyterian Place, a campus ministry of the University of Memphis in the Presbytery of the Mid-South, have joined their Reformed brothers and sisters in Poland and created new openings between east and west—new understandings between Christians once divided by the Iron Curtain.

Pastor Semko Koroza leads a congregation in Lodz, Poland, and reminds us that the Reformed community represents a fraction of believers in the country (less than 4,000 in a nation of 39 million). For the young Polish families who met with new friends from Tennessee, it was a time of affirmation and solidarity, and it was a chance to acknowledge their similarities as children of God. Said Pastor Koroza, "The 10,000 kilometers which divide us mean nothing!"

Pastor Semko Koroza leads a congregation in Lodz, Poland, and reminds us that the Reformed community represents a fraction of believers in the country (less than 4,000 in a nation of 39 million). For the young Polish families who met with new friends from Tennessee, it was a time of affirmation and solidarity, and it was a chance to acknowledge their similarities as children of God. Said Pastor Koroza, "The 10,000 kilometers which divide us mean nothing!"

Do you have a mission story to tell? Would you like to read inspiring stories of Presbyterians in mission? Visit the Witness Season Web site: www.pcusa.org/witness. New minutes for mission are posted on the 1st and 15th of each month.

For more information on the Witness Season mission education emphasis contact Billie Healy, Associate for Mission Education Resources (888) 728-7228, ext. 5689, or Bhealy@ctr.pcusa.org.

Do you have a mission story to tell? Would you like to read inspiring stories of Presbyterians in mission? Visit the Witness Season Web site: www.pcusa.org/witness. New minutes for mission are posted on the 1st and 15th of each month.

For more information on the Witness Season mission education emphasis contact Billie Healy, Associate for Mission Education Resources (888) 728-7228, ext. 5689, or Bhealy@ctr.pcusa.org.