

MINUTE FOR MISSION

November 1, 2005

A Gift that Keeps on Giving

The Asian American Leader Development Program brings leadership training directly to congregations.

Have you ever had big dreams for your church's Christian education program? Have you ever wondered how you could bring them to reality? The Asian-American Leader Development program partners with Asian-American congregations to make their dreams reality by bringing teacher training directly to them through the Educational Ministry Team (EMT). Grace Suh, the EMT national coordinator, is enthusiastic about the program. "When a congregation decides it needs training, they call and arrange a date with us and we come. The training usually takes place over a weekend at the hosting congregation. It's that simple."

EMT works closely with the Association of Presbyterian Certified Educators in preparing the instructional materials, which are presented in PowerPoint and include many concrete examples. The materials become the property

MINUTE FOR MISSION

November 1, 2005

A Gift that Keeps on Giving

The Asian American Leader Development Program brings leadership training directly to congregations.

Have you ever had big dreams for your church's Christian education program? Have you ever wondered how you could bring them to reality? The Asian-American Leader Development program partners with Asian-American congregations to make their dreams reality by bringing teacher training directly to them through the Educational Ministry Team (EMT). Grace Suh, the EMT national coordinator, is enthusiastic about the program. "When a congregation decides it needs training, they call and arrange a date with us and we come. The training usually takes place over a weekend at the hosting congregation. It's that simple."

EMT works closely with the Association of Presbyterian Certified Educators in preparing the instructional materials, which are presented in PowerPoint and include many concrete examples. The materials become the property of the congregation so the instruction is constantly available as a refresher course or for new teacher training. Grace adds, "This program is exciting because few Asian-American churches have professional educators on their staff. This brings training to them. It gives teachers the skills they need and helps them to teach with confidence. Stronger teachers mean stronger believers, and I think that is what the church is all about!" EMT trains people, but it also trains people to train people, who train others, and so on. It is a gift that keeps on giving.

of the congregation so the instruction is constantly available as a refresher course or for new teacher training. Grace adds, "This program is exciting because few Asian-American churches have professional educators on their staff. This brings training to them. It gives teachers the skills they need and helps them to teach with confidence. Stronger teachers mean stronger believers, and I think that is what the church is all about!" EMT trains people, but it also trains people to train people, who train others, and so on. It is a gift that keeps on giving.

Do you have a mission story to tell? Would you like to read inspiring stories of Presbyterians in mission? Visit the Witness Season Web site: www.pcusa.org/witness. New minutes for mission are posted on the 1st and 15th of each month.

For more information on the Witness Season mission education emphasis contact Billie Healy, Associate for Mission Education Resources (888) 728-7228, ext. 5689, or Bhealy@ctr.pcusa.org.

Do you have a mission story to tell? Would you like to read inspiring stories of Presbyterians in mission? Visit the Witness Season Web site: www.pcusa.org/witness. New minutes for mission are posted on the 1st and 15th of each month.

For more information on the Witness Season mission education emphasis contact Billie Healy, Associate for Mission Education Resources (888) 728-7228, ext. 5689, or Bhealy@ctr.pcusa.org.