

MINUTE FOR MISSION

December 1, 2005

The Theological Education Fund

Congregations that contribute to the Theological Education Fund* provide vital financial support for our Presbyterian seminaries and their students.

With their contributions congregations not only provide vital financial support for our Presbyterian seminaries—they're helping students like Deris Rice.

Congregations that contribute to the Theological Education Fund* provide vital financial support for our Presbyterian seminaries and their students.

Rice, who grew up in the National Baptist tradition, had been expecting to follow his call from God by apprenticing with an established preacher and then starting his own church ministry. He had already been licensed to preach as a student at Morehouse College in Atlanta.

Rice was encouraged, however, by a Presbyterian pastor, one of his father's friends, to attend seminary. Intrigued by the opportunity to learn and grow, he decided to extend his education and chose San Francisco Theological Seminary (SFTS) as the place to earn a Master of Divinity degree.

"SFTS has helped me take more seriously the value of an educated clergy," says 2005 graduate Deris Rice. "I've been challenged to grow in ways I couldn't have imagined!"

MINUTE FOR MISSION

November 15, 2005

The Theological Education Fund

Congregations that contribute to the Theological Education Fund* provide vital financial support for our Presbyterian seminaries and their students.

With their contributions congregations not only provide vital financial support for our Presbyterian seminaries—they're helping students like Deris Rice.

Congregations that contribute to the Theological Education Fund* provide vital financial support for our Presbyterian seminaries and their students.

Rice, who grew up in the National Baptist tradition, had been expecting to follow his call from God by apprenticing with an established preacher and then starting his own church ministry. He had already been licensed to preach as a student at Morehouse College in Atlanta.

Rice was encouraged, however, by a Presbyterian pastor, one of his father's friends, to attend seminary. Intrigued by the opportunity to learn and grow, he decided to extend his education and chose San Francisco Theological Seminary (SFTS) as the place to earn a Master of Divinity degree.

"SFTS has helped me take more seriously the value of an educated clergy," says 2005 graduate Deris Rice. "I've been challenged to grow in ways I couldn't have imagined!"

The academic imperative to think, the tools for continued learning, the breadth of experience, and colleagues from different traditions—all have prepared him for ministry as a U.S. Army Reserve chaplain.

“I look forward to ministering to Christians and non-Christians alike, providing comfort to people of different denominations, different faiths.”

The Theological Education Fund, or TEF, is the only denomination-wide source of financial support for PC(USA) seminaries. It is comprised solely of monies contributed annually by Presbyterian congregations.*

For information about TEF, please contact Patsy Godwin at (888) 728-7228, ext. 5337, or pgodwin@ctr.pcusa.org

The academic imperative to think, the tools for continued learning, the breadth of experience, and colleagues from different traditions—all have prepared him for ministry as a U.S. Army Reserve chaplain.

“I look forward to ministering to Christians and non-Christians alike, providing comfort to people of different denominations, different faiths.”

The Theological Education Fund, or TEF, is the only denomination-wide source of financial support for PC(USA) seminaries. It is comprised solely of monies contributed annually by Presbyterian congregations.*

For information about TEF, please contact Patsy Godwin at (888) 728-7228, ext. 5337, or pgodwin@ctr.pcusa.org

Do you have a mission story to tell? Would you like to read inspiring stories of Presbyterians in mission? Visit the Witness Season Web site: www.pcusa.org/witness. New minutes for mission are posted on the 1st and 15th of each month.

For more information on the Witness Season mission education emphasis contact Billie Healy, Associate for Mission Education Resources (888) 728-7228, ext. 5689, or Bhealy@ctr.pcusa.org.

Do you have a mission story to tell? Would you like to read inspiring stories of Presbyterians in mission? Visit the Witness Season Web site: www.pcusa.org/witness. New minutes for mission are posted on the 1st and 15th of each month.

For more information on the Witness Season mission education emphasis contact Billie Healy, Associate for Mission Education Resources (888) 728-7228, ext. 5689, or Bhealy@ctr.pcusa.org.