

Wendy's Boycott National Day of Prayer May 23, 2016

The Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) just endorsed the national boycott of Wendy's launched by the farmworker-led Coalition of Immokalee Workers (CIW). Only the second one in their long campaign, the boycott was called in response to the fast food company's decision to reject the Fair Food Program, a worker-designed, proven human rights program that is preventing violence, wage theft, sexual assault, and slavery in the Florida tomato industry and beyond. As news breaks that Wendy's has moved its tomato purchases from Florida to a supplier in Mexico where slavery was uncovered in 2013, farmworkers and consumers around the country are responding to express their deep dismay and join the Wendy's boycott.

In preparation for Wendy's Annual Shareholder Meeting, join thousands of people of faith around the country for a Wendy's Boycott National Day of Prayer on Monday, May 23. Acting on our faith that calls us to justice, together we pray that Wendy's executives will do what is right by farmworkers in their supply chain.

After praying, call the offices of Wendy's Board Chair and major shareholder Nelson Peltz to urge Wendy's executives to bring the corporation to an agreement with the CIW. The script below can serve as a guide. To amplify your action over social media, tweet@Wendys using the hashtag #BoycottWendys.

---

Call-in Number: 212-451-3000

Suggested script:

Hi, my name is _____, and I would like to leave a message for Nelson Peltz.

As a person of faith allying with the Coalition of Immokalee Workers, I believe it is unconscionable that Wendy's refuses to ensure the human rights of farmworkers in their supply chain. Mr. Peltz, today thousands around the country are praying that Wendy's will join the Fair Food Program. It is time for you to use your position in Wendy's to bring the corporation to an agreement with the CIW.

www.ciw-online.org/boycott-wendys
www.pcusa.org/fairfood

Wendy's Boycott National Day of Prayer May 23, 2016

The Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) just endorsed the national boycott of Wendy's launched by the farmworker-led Coalition of Immokalee Workers (CIW). Only the second one in their long campaign, the boycott was called in response to the fast food company's decision to reject the Fair Food Program, a worker-designed, proven human rights program that is preventing violence, wage theft, sexual assault, and slavery in the Florida tomato industry and beyond. As news breaks that Wendy's has moved its tomato purchases from Florida to a supplier in Mexico where slavery was uncovered in 2013, farmworkers and consumers around the country are responding to express their deep dismay and join the Wendy's boycott.

In preparation for Wendy's Annual Shareholder Meeting, join thousands of people of faith around the country for a Wendy's Boycott National Day of Prayer on Monday, May 23. Acting on our faith that calls us to justice, together we pray that Wendy's executives will do what is right by farmworkers in their supply chain.

After praying, call the offices of Wendy's Board Chair and major shareholder Nelson Peltz to urge Wendy's executives to bring the corporation to an agreement with the CIW. The script below can serve as a guide. To amplify your action over social media, tweet@Wendys using the hashtag #BoycottWendys.

---

Call-in Number: 212-451-3000

Suggested script:

Hi, my name is _____, and I would like to leave a message for Nelson Peltz.

As a person of faith allying with the Coalition of Immokalee Workers, I believe it is unconscionable that Wendy's refuses to ensure the human rights of farmworkers in their supply chain. Mr. Peltz, today thousands around the country are praying that Wendy's will join the Fair Food Program. It is time for you to use your position in Wendy's to bring the corporation to an agreement with the CIW.

www.ciw-online.org/boycott-wendys
www.pcusa.org/fairfood

